

Suicidal Accident (Screenplay)

Synopsis:

Lionel Sexton is a young boy whose life tells him everyday to stop living. Suffering from a severe depression, he decides to put an end to what he considers a miserable existence.

In order to accomplish his wish, he decides not to choose suicide as an escape. Instead, he hires a hitman to kill him and make the incident look like a simple robbery ending up in tragedy.

His father, Patrick, a police officer is chasing a dangerous criminal that same day nearby the place his son is about to meet his paid executioner.

When arriving the abandoned building, the chasing takes Lionel's father to the top floor seconds before his son's last breath.

On his way up, he bumps into his son's killer who's leaving the place, hiding behind thick black glasses. Patrick barely pays attention to his person while chasing the other individual, but can't help noticing a strange tattooed figure on his neck.

Patrick notices a dead body near him and runs towards it, without even knowing the worst day of his life was about to change him forever when seeing his son's dead body lying still with a shot in the head.

Now, the devastated police officer will begin a dreadful journey in order to discover the real truth after this sad event, searching everywhere for the responsible and reaching unexpected consequences before discovering the saddest truth he could ever imagined.
